6/9/2022	Paid Event	60 mins	Best Practices (SAQ)	How to Build Your Unique Risk Assessment	In this session we'll describe concepts we learned in Understanding the Purpose and Function of Risk Assessment and its Relationship to Internal Controls and provide examples of how to roll out these concepts in documenting a risk assessment that aligns with the distinct risks of your organization's payment processing program. We will cover a variety of examples, particularly related to Consumer Protection compliance and legal risk for payment...	Marsha Jones, President, TPPFA	Member Only	Y
12/13/2022	Paid Event	60 mins	Best Practices (SAQ)	Developing, Testing and Maintaining Internal Controls Framework	In this session we will further expand our work with risk assessments and dive more deeply into internal controls, otherwise known as those things you do to mitigate a particular risk. Creating a risk assessment at the internal control level allows your organization to develop a testing program that is risk-based, with a more frequent risk-based internal control testing program and schedule. The primary purpose of self-testing internal controls on a regular basis is to provide your company with the opportunity to self-detect and self-correct when controls are inadequate or fail. A properly documented internal control testing program helps to support your company. In demonstrating a...	Marsha Jones, President, TPPFA	Member Only	Y
6/9/2022	Recorded @ 2:00	60 mins	Best Practices (SAQ)	Policies and Procedures and Their Functions and How they Differ	In this session we will discuss the differentfunctions and purposes of Policies versus Procedures. Policies are directives of the Board that are designed to implement controls to mitigate risk. Policies are the "what" statements of the Board. Procedures are the "how" instructions for implementing the board policies on a functional level. Both policies and procedures must be documented, approved by the board (policies) or management (procedures), and must be communicated to employees so they are implemented and updated. Employees should be trained on policies, and procedures on a regular basis to ensure that they are aware of their responsibilities. Policies and procedures should be reviewed, policies and procedures should be scheduled for future review. These concepts and more will be covered in this session.
